CAREER

Mr. Tom is founder and President of infoQuest Management Consulting Corporation, a firm providing strategic business performance coaching, consulting, and executive search services serving business owners, CEO's, and Presidents of small to mid-sized companies in a wide variety of industries. He has over 30 years of executive business management experience from small private start-up to Fortune 500 firms including Hewlett-Packard, Timex, Aura Systems, and Watkins-Johnson Company.

His firms' executive search services focus on key executive management and key employee searches that employs comprehensive profiling of both candidate and company to insure optimal compatibility, and continued executive coaching afterwards to insure integration success. In addition, his firm provides executive outplacement services to executives looking to realign their lives with their spiritual values.

Mr. Tom is also a Certified Facilitator for The Alternative Board TAB, an international organization that provides advisory boards for private company owners. He facilitates the board meetings and provides executive coaching for the business owner or chief executive. One of these Boards is a faith-based board comprised of Christian business owners. In this role, he helps the owner's steward and build their companies to match their personal and spiritual goals.
